WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

To master a degree in Environment, Development and Peace is relevant to students and professionals working in education, research, and policy who want to deepen their understanding of sustainability and develop tools to put knowledge into action. In this program, you will be introduced to frameworks and tools to analyze and address key sustainability issues. You will become skilled in implementing sustainable solutions and deepening understanding of sustainability while learning to acquire tools to put knowledge into action. In this program, you will learn contemporary frameworks and tools to implement our teachings via applied research, the development of a professional product, and/or through working in an environment within a social and local context.

M.A. in Environment, Development and Peace: Program-Specific Courses

In addition to the university-wide courses, the programme will take (1) a course on Environment, Conflict and Sustainability and (2) a Natural Resource Management Field Course. In addition to these program-specific courses, previous courses include:

- Climate Change Adaptation & Justice
- Climate Change Governance
- Environment, Conflicts, and Sustainability
- Food Security
- Forests, Forestry and Poverty
- Gender, Human Security, and Development
- Management of Coastal Resources
- Natural Resource Management Field Course
- Science For Environmental Management
- Sustainable Agriculture
- Water, Security and Peace

Thesis/Capstone/Internship

In the final months of the M.A. programme, you will produce a research-based thesis or a capstone project. You will also have the option to choose an internship at a relevant organization to complement your M.A. programme requirements.

WHERE WILL YOU BE STUDYING?

The University for Peace - established by the UN General Assembly in 1980 - has been training leaders for peace for the past four decades. It is a unique public educational institution in the field of peace and conflict resolution in all of its aspects, as well as to the relationship of identity politics and peacebuilding, and research methods. The Education for Sustainable Development, Peace and Conflict Resolution, and Diplomacy program has created a diverse global body of students and teachers, and learning is provided by a group of teaching scholars and expert practitioners.

The University for Peace (www.upeace.org | admissions@upeace.org) is an international university that offers a range of innovative undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral programmes, including the Master’s in Environment, Development, and Peace. The university is a leading center of environmental research and education, and our department offers a diverse range of graduate and undergraduate programmes.

The M.A. programme in Environment, Development, and Peace is offered by the internationally-recognized Department of Environment, Conflict, and Sustainability. The programme is designed to be completed in one year. The programme offers two distinct degree programmes: 1) an M.A. in Environment, Development, and Peace and 2) an M.A. in Responsible Management and Sustainable Economic Development.

Scholarships & Waivers

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>30%</td>
<td>U.S. nationals or a graduate of a university of the U.S. (up to 50% on the up to 50% of tuition)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50%</td>
<td>Professors from non-united states, or any university in or outside the United States (up to 50% on the remaining 50% of tuition)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TUITION FEES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>$17,000</th>
<th>TUITION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$2,500</td>
<td>FEES</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$19,500</td>
<td>TOTAL</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*The UPEACE M.A. programmes are designed to be completed in one year.